

Science and the Bible

Science and the Bible in Harmony?

by your servant, Dan Baxley

dan@servantsofyahshua.com

www.servantsofyahshua.com

www.yahshuaservant.com

Please do yourself a favor and read this article to its conclusion. You don't have to agree with it but I think you will find the middle part, on the "Points", of real interest -- worth reading -- OK, go ahead, jump to the middle, then come back here.

What would you think if I were to say that science of evolution has got it pretty much right? There are some in the Christian community that agree with the tenants of the "theory of evolution" suggesting that the Creator God used evolution to create us and the universe we see today. Others, however, teach the "young earth" theory excluding the idea of millions and millions of years for the creation of space and people -- six literal days, in fact. Push all of that aside for the moment, if you can, and think in terms of the spirit and how a "believer" should position himself, or herself, in this push and pull argument. I know, I know, there are other theories some dealing with "earth ages", and theories about "space people" planting their seed, etc., etc., but let's side step some of these theories and get to some simple observations that I think can be agreed on, well, mostly.

Belief as of a Child

If you can muster the belief of a child and can accept the Bible as true and the word of an intelligent being attempting to communicate with us it will help in accepting things you cannot prove and don't need to prove in order to maintain your faith. As a believer you would find yourself standing on good ground, the scriptures as your foundation. This actually puts you a leg up on anyone putting all of their hope solely on the science of evolution. This science is argued by some to be a belief system based on speculations swirling around "intelligent" design while denying the same. I personally believe in the Bible as the words of the Living God, a work book, if you will, of how we should operate and how we came to be. I also think the evolutionist painting themselves into a corner as knowledge increases their dance around what is staring them in the face becomes more and more desperate.

The Error of Science as a Profession

The error in science is to judge the Book, you know the Bible, as a pack of myths and stories told around the camp fires of the first men trying to make sense of a world they did not understand. Over the last fifty years, however, science has been stumbling all over itself trying to cover themselves as it becomes ever more evident people of way back then were not ignorant, grunting beasts. As the evolutionist scramble about discarding this theory then that theory then accepting back again that other theory and fighting among themselves over preconceived ideas and actual fact, all in the quest for truth, orf so they say. Well, maybe the search is not always for truth, but look, pet theories are hard to abandon. It is not only the scientist of evolution, however, that have "pet theories" to defend, we see this same, and very similar, attitude found among teachers of the Bible.

Unknowingly many of the researchers in the science of evolution have been confirming the Bible as the beginning of truth. The further the scientist have removed themselves from this truth, the Bible, becoming ignorant of what the scriptures have to say about beginnings and endings, they have unintentionally proven it to be a basis of truth. That's right, much of the newly revealed truth and findings in scientific findings actually supports what the Bible has to say, or is it the other way around?

Everyone would agree, I think, that there is a knowledge explosion going on at an ever increasing pace. The Holy Bible should have been destroyed, buried in scientific proof of its falsehoods and myths, but this has not been the case, in fact, as this explosion of new information, just the opposite is occurring. The Bible is alive and well and is finding a place on the shelves of some researchers in various fields of study as an aid into new discoveries. Of course the main thrust of the science of evolution is to deny a Creator God and this make it doubly shameful when a Bible believer attempts to side with the evolutionist, apologizing for the Bible and attempting to twist the scriptures to fit in with the theory of evolution. They do this for "intellectual" reasons attempting to make peace with the world, to fit in, not understanding the Creator is capable of creating by merely speaking a command, something we, as humans of flesh have trouble comprehending. It is difficult to admit your error when you have virtually staked your career on a false premise.

Many archaeologist in using the Bible as a template for uncovering lost cities and lost civilizations have made a name for themselves and some of them are so brazen as to suggest they still do not believe in a God -- yet they confirm the historical accuracy of the Book -- incredible. Even in the field of nutrition it has been demonstrated that a diet, known as the Mediterranean diet, is the most suitable for humans. So, it is no surprise, or shouldn't to the believer, that the Mediterranean diet can be found within the pages of the Book. Yes, the Bible does give us a diet, thousands of years ago, before humans became so smart. But this is only one point. Keep reading, I have listed below other interesting facts being admitted to by science, unknowingly, that prove the Book is way ahead of everyone.

They Say The Book Is Not History?

Historians are the next group to keep turning to the Bible for historical content in an effort to fill in the holes left by the archaeologist. Amazing, while denying the source of truth they dance all around it, twisting and turning, jumping over the flames of their intelligence making tribal guttural sounds as they click their stick together, admitting the truth but denying the source thereof. And even more we have authors of fiction pulling plots from this Book to write their stories. And little wonder, it has been said the Bible contains every plot line known to man -- as if the Book were written by a genius -- amazing. Certainly I understand that not all of these professionals in the various fields of science and investigation are unbelievers and make no claim in support of the bible one way or another and it is this holding this position that prevents them from seeing the contradiction of their work while consulting the very Boo that claims a higher intelligence than that of man -- a much, much, much higher intelligence. The percentage of believers among the sciences is growing but most keep silent when it comes to acknowledging the Book as inspired by a Higher Intelligence out of fear of being forced out of their field of study.

The Believer -- Fear Not

For you and I as believers, you know, those called to the Christ by the Father, our choice should be a simple one. The Father tells us that He created everything by and through the Son, John 1:1-2. You either believe or you don't. If you don't then you are not a believer, you are something else. A believer "believes" the word, much as a child might believe his or her parents -- without question. This does not mean you check your mind at the door, so to speak, in fact a believer is told to study (2 Timothy 2:15) and to test the spirits (1 John 4:1) to see if they are of the Father, or the Son (the Creator), or not. The believer is challenged to grow not only in faith but in knowledge (2 Peter 1:5-6, 1 Timothy 2:4). As a follower of the Christ, YaHshua, and having His faith in you there must then be a "belief" in things not yet seen, for that is "faith". As "believers" we really do not need to convince anyone concerning our Heavenly Father nor in the things pertaining to salvation or eternal life through His Son, YaHshua. Our "faith" and our "belief" is delivered to us in what some refer to as our "calling". Our Father in Heaven removes the cloud of worldly wisdom from our minds and give us "spiritual wisdom". He has made Himself known to us, giving us knowledge of Himself and His Son. He has shown us His Son and we "believe", we can't help it, the veil is removed, and trying to convince, or make, a non-believer see what we see so plainly is futile and a waste of time. With this uncovering of the mind and with the opening of our eyes to the real truth we can see more clearly the truth of the words written for our admonition, for our guidance, for our reproof and correction into what life is all about. Stand by the truth of the book and you don't have to back track as sciences have been doing for the last 200 years. The poor Darwinian, fighting hard to maintain a flawed 200 year old theory while new discoveries leaven them behind.

With this being understood I do not need to make a long drawn out argument as to why you should "believe" in a creation by "intelligent design" -- we are not an accident -- but I don't have to tell you that, you already believe it, right? Some within the "faith" of belief have stumbled, feeling "left behind" by the intellectual world. The wisdom of this world is not, in most cases, the wisdom delivered to us in the written word of the Living God, YaH and is not a wisdom we should desire. We should be able to understand where the wisdom of the world comes from and to understand this wisdom but it is the Wisdom from God we should be able to see and seek. Every day new discoveries in science is prove the written Word of the Living God is correct and can be trusted -- I'm talking about the Holy Bible, not the Koran (Quran), not the Mormon Bible, and not the Course in Miracles, no not any of the impostors but the Holy Bible as based upon the Hebrew and Greek/Aramaic Scriptures handed down to us by the Hebrews and the Apostles of the New Testament.

Shocking News Flash -- Science and the Bible do agree! (This is the middle part)

First a few quotes from some men many will recognize and few will argue with:

"The scientist is possessed by the sense of universal causation.... His religious feeling takes the form of a rapturous amazement at the harmony of natural law, which reveals an intelligence of such superiority that, compared with it, all the systematic thinking and acting of human beings is an utterly insignificant reflection." Albert Einstein, theoretical physicist

"We can't understand the universe in any clear way without the supernatural." Allan Sandage, astronomer

"For the scientist who has lived by his faith in the power of reason, the story ends like a bad dream. He has scaled the mountains of ignorance; he is about to conquer the highest peak; as he pulls himself over the final rock, he is greeted by a band of theologians who have been sitting there for centuries." Robert Jastrow, astronomer

Contrary to what you have heard, or taught in school, science is on the verge of catching up with what the Scriptures have had to say about this planet -- not the other way around. Here is a few points to ponder as examples of science and the Bible agreeing.

Point 1. Science tells us that our sun is burning out and one day it will "supernova" expanding beyond the last planet in our solar system. Of course this isn't supposed to happen right away but around 5 billion years, give or take a billion. Some, however, mention this future happening in as little as 100 million years. What if they are wrong, what if their time line is not correct and it is thousands of years not million. Hey, look, they are guessing, when one says 5 billion and another drops this guess to 100 million, well, that is a spread too large to ignore -- who would gamble with that kind of spread? The future of the earth is set -- total destruction -- by fire -- by our sun. Believe it or not, the Bible agrees with science on this point, or is it the other way around, hum. Let's see what the written word has to say about such a thing:

2 Peter 3:10 But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. KJV

Malachi 4:1 Surely the day is coming; it will burn like a furnace. NIV (there is more to this verse, much more, and I would suggest you read it, but for now the point I am making is made)

Revelation 21:1 And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. (what do you suppose happened to the sea -- extreme evap?)

Revelation 22:5 And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever. KJV (no more sun just like the scientist say will happen one day)

Revelation 22:5 "There will be no more night. They will not need the light of a lamp or the light of the sun, for the Lord God will give them light. And they will reign for ever and ever." NIV

Imagine, the Creator of all things, and that is saying a lot -- replacing the sun as our light -- and that is beyond imagination, right? Remember, the sun is very small compared to other light sources in the universe -- Sources created by our Heavenly Father by and through His Son (John 1:1-14). The idea of replacing our sun should be no big deal, for them. But notice something else in that verse, "And they will reign for ever and ever". The "they" would be the believers and it is plain that "they" will not be in what the Christians call Heaven -- somewhere out there in the far reaches of outer space. No, He is coming here, we are not going there. "They" will be "rulers" and to be that there must be something to rule or reign over. Reading the verse in Revelation you can see the subject point is all about the earth and everything and everyone having to do with this world, this earth. This is not to say we are earth bound at this time, at the end of all evil, but at death we do not go to Heaven, only YaHshua has done that. There is a future, a grand future for those He has chosen, even for those who have searched Him out, and for those that have answered the call (2 Tim 1:9). But I digress, let us return to the subject at hand.

Methane Gas -- a Threat?

This should be another point, perhaps, but it ties in so well with this Point 1 -- the fire, and all. This is something about the Earth that most, I believe, do not know. The ocean floors and the Perma-frost in the North and the Ice of the South (Antarctica) is loaded with Methane gas. Huge frozen fields of Methane cover the depths of the ocean floor. Methane is one of the most flammable gases there is and when ignited it does not stop until it has burned out. Some in the field of Earth biology and geology are worried about Global Warming causing the Methane that is being controlled by the frozen state, will be released abnormally into the atmosphere making for a very fiery affair. Now, couple this with a sun that is going to flash out one day and guess what? You have an Earth that is a fiery inferno. Where does the Bible indicate this? Well, remember the verse that tells us there will not be a Sea anymore (Rev 21:1)? That means the Methane is gone too, and the only way to get rid of both is by heat, a lot of heat.

Point 2. We are told by those studying the sciences of the Earth there are places on the Earth ready to explode possibly setting off monster earth-quakes like never before seen. Mega volcanoes, super-quakes, and it doesn't stop there, the projections (scientific prophecy?) of the inevitable attack from outer space by space rocks (meteorite showers), asteroids, comets and the like. They do not say "maybe" they say it is only a matter of time. Oh, and the written Word of the Living God agrees -- or is it the other way around? I know, I keep asking that question, but really, which came first?

Revelation 6:12 And I beheld when he had opened the sixth seal, and, lo, there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon became as blood; 13 And the stars of heaven fell unto the earth, even as a fig tree casteth her untimely figs, when she is shaken of a mighty wind. 14 And the heaven departed as a scroll when it is rolled together; and every mountain and island were moved out of their places. KJV

Revelation 8:5 And the angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth: and there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and an earthquake. KJV

Point 3. Science tells us of earth's past history of being hammered by huge meteors and asteroids and a comet or two – you know the popular theory of the “great extinction” brought about by a mountain sized asteroid slamming earth? It is estimated there were more plants and animals populating this Earth than we have today. And, of course, we are told that it is not a matter of “if it will ever happen again, but when. Yes, we are being told that it is only a matter of time before we are creamed by a very large rock from space or perhaps a comet, or both.

More Information than you want to Know

There is, at this very moment, an asteroid that is being watched and is expected to pass inside our moon's orbit. This asteroid has been named Apophis and is expected to rip through the very space some of our higher attitude earth satellites travel in. When is this to occur? How does the year 2029 sound? And there is more -- if the asteroid manages to pass through a space “key-hole” it will be slung out, by the earth, into an orbit that will bring it right back to earth within 7 years, only this time it will smack us and hard. Once again the Word of God has been telling us about just such an event. Oh, and guess what? This is all to happen before the coming of the Messiah. I wonder where this leaves the “escape doctrine” teachers? \(Left Behind teachers\) Again, where is the Bible on this on this topic, this science?

Seven Years

Later?

Update: While the world was looking somewhere else, like at Apophis, another Asteroid snuck in, and not much of a warning either. While we know Apophis will be coming at us around 2029, this latest event shot by Earth at under 20,000 miles (17,200, to be exact), this 150 footer was upstage, however, by a smaller object that exploded over (close to) Chelybinsk, Russia, just hours before (3:20 am) the larger asteroid, known as DA14, came its closest at 7:45 AM. DA14 was first spotted Feb 2012, the smaller 55 footer that exploded over Russia with the force of 30 of the original Atom Bombs, injuring over 1,000 people, and collapsing several buildings, was a total surprise. It exploded in the sky without making earth impact and luckily it did not explode over a major city. What are the odds of that? Two asteroids -- two -- and they say they were not related? DA14, one year warning, little buddy, no warning at all.

Revelation 8:8 And the second angel sounded, and as it were a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea: and the third part of the sea became blood; (Note: Asteroids are much like mountains, especially big ones, composed of rock and metals unlike comets that are a loose compaction of various material held together by gaseous ice)

Revelation 8:10 And the third angel sounded, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning as it were a lamp, and it fell upon the third part of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters; (Note: This could very well be a comet. While an asteroid would plow into the earth's surface a comet would be more apt to explode in the atmosphere and fall out over a larger area, raining down some kind of outer space pollution. Notice, it is compared to a lamp, or torch – this is pretty descriptive of what a comet does look like when viewed from earth)

Revelation 8:11 And the name of the star is called Wormwood:

Comment: It has just recently come to the attention of some, that study comets, that there is a possibility they may harbor some type of pollutant, even a virus or two and some have speculated comets might have been the beginnings of life on Earth they now fear a comet might be our death -- death by poison -- outer-space poison. Hum, sounds kind of like "Wormwood" doesn't it?

Point 4. Remember all of the talk you have heard from childhood about how those stupid religious people thought the earth was flat? Remember how, for the most part, you were taught in school how the preachers and priests of the dark ages enforced this idea of a “flat earth” and suppressed the intelligent people who were trying to teach otherwise? This, of course, is all nonsense, not that the religion of the day, called Christianity, had all of the answers but what you are not told is that much of modern discoveries came out to the colleges supported or built by the Christian churches. Some of our greatest thinkers came out of these Christian institutions. The real struggle had been over power. Due to the lack of knowledge about the very book they reportedly believed in they made some ignorant observations. Flat Earth or not, science, founded by Christian Institutions, would soon prove the truth, never mind that thousands of years before the “dark ages” societies in the Middle East never had such notions and most subscribed to the “circle of the heavens and of the Earth”. What has the Bible to say about all of this? Remember, this is the book the Roman Church felt the need to protect, to keep from the prying eyes of the flock – you have to wonder why. So, what does this book say?

Isaiah 40:22 “Do you not know? Have you not heard? Has it not been told you from the beginning? Have you not understood since the earth was founded? He sits enthroned above the circle of the earth and its people are like grasshoppers. He stretches the heavens like a canopy, and spreads them out like a tent to live in”

Isaiah wrote this around 700 B.C. way before the “dark ages”. Coming out of the dark ages man was actually rediscovering what had already been known. From the looks of ancient civilizations there once had been a population quite advanced and there is no telling how far they might have gone if not for a “mass extinction”, but then that is another “story” – a story of beginnings -- some call it the Flood.

Point 5. This is an oldie but goody: The Earth at one time was a single body, or mass and the ocean had been a single body. Remember, as children, how we used to look at the map of the world and our little minds could see how the land masses looked like big puzzle pieces? Do you remember thinking how it looked like all these big chunks of dirt and rock (earth) once fit together? And so, for most of us, it was no big surprise when the scientist merely stated the obvious? Yes, believe it or not, many in earth science are have only recently embraced this concept and they call it, "Continental Drift". We need to understand; the ancients did not have the advantage of viewing the earth from space and had not mapped the edging of the land masses being slapped around by the oceans. OK, you get one guess as to who said this first, who seemed to know all about this first?

Genesis 1:9 And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.

Yes, the God of Israel, ahead of all the other gods, told us, in writing, that it was so. Once upon a time thousands of years before modern science had been born a book was telling us the obvious -- well, obvious to modern day children of grade school age. Makes you wonder, did the ancients of then have a globe to look at, or a map, when they made up this story? Maybe they had satellite photos to look at, you think (just kidding)? Well, from those few words in Genesis it is plain, someone knew what they were talking about, someone knew the earth had its place and the water its place and each was "divided from the other".

Point 6. This point ties in nicely with Point 5: We are told by those in the study of geology that there is evidence for huge amounts of water heaving upward through the crusts of the earth leaving behind water borne minerals clinging to the cracks and fissures created by a "bursting forth" from the deep. A good way to picture this is at your own faucet, the white scale, as some call it, is mineral build up from the water and to battle this build-up many home owners use water softer and guess what is the main ingredient for cleaning this mineral from the water? Right, salt, not unlike the salt we find in the oceans of the world. Maybe this is why we don't have a giant mineral ring along the coast lines? Minerals have been left behind, untouched by the salt waters, on a massive scale (no pun intended) throughout mountain ranges around the world.

Thousands of years ago a scale of minerals is left behind from an event the science of geology inadvertently acknowledges, "the fountains of the deep burst forth". No, they are not trying to support a biblical account, or give any credibility to the Scriptures, but merely making an observation of what they see in the record of the rock, more specifically, the formation of the Rocky Mountains, and other mountain ranges. The witness testifying to of this event was broadcast on the SCI channel (satellite TV) a program titled, The Rockies. About half way through this very interesting program this statement was made: "Volcanic action had a lot to do with the making of the US Rockies. Magma hurled toward the surface heating water into high powered jets that shot through the weakened cracks in the earth infusing them here and there with minerals before exploding through the crust." A little later on the commentator made this statement: "In the US Eastern face the Rockies shoots up like a wall out of the prairie ..." Geologists have marveled at this sudden formation of the Rockies defying what is commonly taught as the origins of this massive mountain range -- you know -- slowly over millions of years the mountains have been pushed up, an inch at a time, but this seems to be in question now. But wait, is there another source agreeing with this new discovery? Yes, there is, and once again we have this "story book" proving to be much more than a book of stories.

Gen 7:11 In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened. KJV (This is really a specific statement for a story, isn't it? We are given the exact date?)

Gen 7:11 In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, on the seventeenth day of the second month ---on that day all the springs of the great deep burst forth, and the floodgates of the heavens were opened. NIV

Notice the precision of this account in so few words. The complexities involved with this verse, and many others, is so perfect as to show the ignorance of any that would suggest this is just a story by dull-witted tribal people barely having learned to speak. The rest of this chapter in Genesis goes far and above what is necessary for a story told around the "campfire" as some intellectual giants would have you believe. Stand up for your belief, brothers and sisters. Believe the Living God as Noah did and as Abraham did and you will never have to be ashamed of accepting false notions put out by those that would refuse the existence of your Creator – even if the very stones themselves rose up and spoke to them they would not believe – and they have, the stones cry out, they have spoken, the rocks say, "look what happened to us". The Creator has spoken to men in more ways than one and to what use? History has shown us how we have listened? Today we even have priests, ministers, preachers, teachers, and self-proclaimed prophets telling us it is all symbolic, it is mere stories told to children, blah, blah, and blah.

Point 7. The Science of Astronomy tells us that the Universe is ever expanding – everything seems to be moving outward – and we are told that this outward movement, this stretching out is accelerating at an ever-increasing speed. Does the Bible, the Word of the Living God, YHWH, have anything to say concerning this? I admit I'm smiling again, my Father's word, your Father's Word is truth. What is written by inspiration is so casual a remark as to be not debatable.

Isaiah 44:24 Thus saith the LORD (YHWH), thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the womb, I am the LORD (YHWH) that maketh all things; that stretcheth forth the heavens alone; that spreadeth abroad the earth by myself; KJV

Zechariah 12:1 The burden of the word of the LORD (YHWH) for Israel, saith the LORD (YHWH), which stretcheth forth the heavens, and layeth the foundation of the earth, and formeth the spirit of man within him. KJV

Job 26:7 He stretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing. KJV

Comment: “He stretches out...” I think is an appropriate layman’s description of what the scientist are seeing. Read Job again, “... and hangs the earth upon NOTHING”. With all of the scientific explanations of how the Earth is held in place it is still suspended on nothing. Many ancient peoples and tribes of people and even some sophisticated societies of the Old World had myths of how the Earth was supported: By Hercules, said the Greeks, or by a great Turtle carrying the earth on its back, but who is it that said the Earth is hung on nothing? Who wrote of such things hundreds of years, thousands of years, before men became so smart as to see that it was not a Turtle, not Hercules and not a force that can be seen. The Bible, the inspired Words of the Living God and Creator, YHWH, has been telling mankind way ahead of the discoveries of modern man. Will we listen or cave to peer pressure and intimidation? Remember the Number One Principle – “Let every man be a liar but the Living God, our Creator and Savior be true” (My paraphrase of Romans 3:4).

Point 8. It just keeps getting better. I am sure you have heard a lot about our space researchers looking for and finding other worlds. Ah, at last, proof we are not the only ones, of course, they have yet to make contact with any that might occupy these other worlds. Boy, it is about time, after all, it is a lonely feeling thinking we might be the only world. I'm wondering why this was ever an issue, why would the people of our world be so interested? You know, it isn't like we could visit. This answer, however, was given to us way before the space program, so it should not have been a search to prove we are not alone, or the only planet, it should have been a search to prove the word of God true. After all, over two thousand years ago we humans were given a hint. I know, if you believe in the Higher Intelligence, you already know we are not alone, but for the sake of an argument, here is what your bible says:

(Heb 11:3) Through faith we understand that the WORLDS (plural, get it?) were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear.

The Science of Evolution and Geology (Last comment?)

If the men of science would accept the idea of a “global flood” we would see a revolution in the science of geology and a wealth of theories would be answered. The puzzle of mysterious things, like stones, weighing in the tons, found hundreds, even thousands of miles from their point of origin and some sitting high above sea level. Their composition showing they are from a lower source many hundreds of miles from where they ended up. This, not unlike the fossilized sea creatures found throughout the northern hemisphere thousands of feet above today’s sea level, could easily be accounted for by an enormous global flood. It would explain why virtually every society of modern and primitive men speak of such an event in their past history, even today it is still discussed, why do you suppose that is? If the global flood were accepted as fact nearly all of the puzzle pieces would fit. Certainly, pet theories would collapse and men of past genius would fall from grace but look at how the science of understanding would leap forward. Yes, many stubborn, self-deluded haters of the “god concept” would whine and cry taking a stand of self-righteousness as they stomp out of any meeting suggesting such a thing. As knowledge increases it will become ever increasingly difficult for the poor scientist living in the past to stay in the past. Isn't it amazing how many in the sciences cling to what they propose at theories of Darwin? What is happening is ignorance concerning the Scriptures has led to admissions by modern scientist confirming what the Scriptures have been telling us for thousands of years. Their ignorance gives support to the Biblical writings, unwittingly, as they admit to the truths they witness without being concerned about a book they have never read, nor care about.

Information being presented over the airways is continually making the “evolutionist” appear out of touch with reality. Failed theories abound as the grand minds of the “theory of evolution” attempt to keep patching it back together. They are losing the battle and I have a suggestion that just might save them some face: Admit there must have been a global flood, after all, they already are telling us that the earth was, at one time, covered in ice up to three miles thick, so why not acknowledge ice is water too, right? What is ice if not water? They could turn this discovery into a coup, of sorts, by just ignoring the religious creationist and declare they are following a pure scientific method of observation, claiming the discovery for themselves. This, then, would explain the massive cache of fossilized bones piled here and there throughout the whole world. The evidence is amassing at an astounding rate and it is only a matter of time before the supporters of the “Theory of Evolution” are branded a bunch of buffoons. They still have time to save themselves but they may have to throw some of their cherished idols under the proverbial bus.

2 Peter 3:5-7 For this they willingly are ignorant of, that by the word of God the heavens were of old, and the earth standing out of the water and in the water: Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished: But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.

This verse is a dire warning for all that read it. Notice, it is “by the word” that “the world that then was” perished and it is by the word, “reserved unto fire”. Anyone that needs a scientific explanation should not have to look too far in understanding what Peter is telling us. Consider the preachers and prophets of “Global Warming” and you should get the point. We are cycling into a warming period and who is to say it will not burn like an oven one day, and maybe sooner than we might think? Remember, Peter was not considered an educated man, even by the standards of his day, but who can argue with what he was inspired to write?

Matthew 24:37-39 But as the days of Noe were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, And knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. KJV (The words of our Savior, He acknowledges the FLOOD)

The above verse should dispel any notion as to our Messiah's belief about the flood. Did it happen? According to Him it did and He likens it as a time that came suddenly just as His coming is to be “suddenly”. Noah spent 120 years, they say, building the Ark for his family to escape in. From this we can assume, many people of that day saw the Ark and many others heard of it, but only eight were saved. How will it be before our Savior returns? It has been over two thousand years, certainly the mercy of our Father in Heaven is great and He is mercifully allowing mankind a longer period of time to repent -- remember, the Apostles of then imagined the return of YaHshua in their day, but our Heavenly Father has a time chosen only He knows and here we are, two thousand plus years and still waiting -- how merciful is this? Repent of what, you say?

Revelation 9:20-21 And the rest of the men which were not killed by these plagues yet repented not of the works of their hands, that they should not worship devils, and idols of gold, and silver, and brass, and stone, and of wood: which neither can see, nor hear, nor walk: Neither repented they of their murders, nor of their sorceries, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts.

Revelation 21:8 But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death.

This just about covers it. The phrase, “works of their hands” is more than making idols, it is the concept that man, free from the Creator God, can solve his own problems. Mankind has this attitude of eternity but in reality all, men and women go to the grave – we die. Still, death seems so far away, it is one of those things that happen to someone else. Even with the history of man staring us in the face we reject the inevitable and think that by the “works of our own hands” we can overcome anything. It is that old tale of “given enough time” we can accomplish anything. Of course, if that were possible, it does not provide a very good answer for all of the millions upon millions that have already gone to the grave, where is the time for them? We do, mankind, deceive ourselves. After all Satan did say, "surely you shall not die", and we, mankind, believe him. Adam has gone to the grave and so has Eve all because they believed Satan's words over their Creator's, just as mankind does today. Given enough time we can solve all our problems, men say, maybe even eternal life, who needs god? History bears witness against men for their futile efforts and arrogant denial of their Creator.

(Rom 1:20-23) For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, And changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and four-footed beasts, and creeping things. KJV

Only through repentance and the realization that we cannot make it on our own. Without the trust in and of our Savior we are doomed and no amount of self-imposed delusion can change that. We need the Creator to help us, we need the author of “Eternal Life” to help us, we cannot and in the end will not have the ability to save ourselves. This planet is doomed as is all life on it. The very science that tells us there is no God is the same that tell us we are headed for annihilation. If not by our own hand by the hand of the universe, or by our own sun – this Earth is going to perish and the idea of loading the population of the Earth onto space craft and blasting off into space is science-fiction at its worst -- a false hope of monumental proportions. Even at the speed of light it would take over a thousand years (light years) to reach anything that might appear as another planet. Imagine, a thousand years and more moving at the speed of light and still trying to figure out how to conserve our on board water? It is a joke and serious scientists speculate on just such things.

Prefect Repentance

To “repent” is to change one’s mind and thus change your life style, your attitude -- a genuine attitude adjustment. It would mean giving up false worship (false gods, false hope, of man) and murders (war, and terrorist acts), and sorceries, and fornication (sexual immorality of every kind) and of theft (cheating on taxes, cheating of any kind is theft). If we repent of these things then, and only then will the Creator God consider opening our minds and lives to His Son YaHshua who in turn will give us eternal life. Only by this gift will we ultimately be changed into spirit beings and the fire to come will have no effect on us. With our newly converted attitude we will cease being destructive to ourselves and to others. This is the Love of our Heavenly Father, that we repent and demonstrate love one for another, and this “love” is His Love in us. This is the prefect picture, this is, or should be, our desire but it turns out to be our struggle. That's right, as long as we are in the flesh this seeking of the perfections of YaHshua will be our struggle, our mental as well as physical battle. Our Salvation is found in the perfection of our Savior -- through and by Him we have this perfection -- not yet realized-- until we become as He is -- this is the gift. But, even though we are given this undeserved gift we should not drop our guard against our own evil thoughts and actions -- "...resist Satan and he will flee from you" (James 4:7). We used to walk as the world walks accepting the sins of humanity as a mere natural course: It is only natural to lust, to hunger for things not ours, to allow deception -- all influenced by the "spirit of Satan" (Eph 2:2 - READ IT!). Politian’s lie and it is accepted among themselves as all part of doing business -- it is acceptable. The god of the world once had blinded us too, but no longer and this explains why, to the repentant mind, world logic, and world wisdom, seems "crazy" (2 Cor 4:4 - READ IT!).

email: dan@servantsofyahshua.com

Go To Home Page

